By WASH FAYETTE

We were sitting here in the Record-Herald news room discussing the progress of the Third War Loan campaign in Fayette County . . . we agreed that, barring some phenomenon, Fayette County would fall down on its obligation to lend Uncle Sam $1,018,000 extra during September so he can buy the things needed for his fighting men . . . we were wondering why . . . wondering if the slow progress was due to any failure on our part to impress our readers with the importance of the campaign . . . just then I picked up a letter and opened it . . . inside there was a piece from the Louisville Courier-Journal . . . we read it and were deeply impressed . . . "A Boy Died Last Night" . . . it needs no comment from me . . . here it is:

"A boy died last night. It doesn't make much difference now about his name. The important thing is that he died, in poignant and awful loneliness, out somewhere on a waste of sand, out in a starless silence, ten thousand miles from home.

"Missing in action," read an obscure line in this morning's communique. That was all. Now he lies there, crumpled beside the twisted wreckage that yesterday was his plane, riding high in the sunlit heavens. The fine head and the shining face and the broad shoulders remain only in a picture that looks out upon a quiet living-room on a shaded street an eternity away.

"Last night, in those agonizing hours of unspeakable isolation, he went through a thousand deaths without the one thing that might have helped a little—the sound of a familiar voice, the pat of a friendly hand. Many people died last night in their beds at home, surrounded by those who cared. Last night he died in utter desolation, in an unimaginable loneliness.

"The pain was terrible enough. But then there had to be that dreadful burden of thought in those endless last hours. Mom and Pop. The flowers blooming again in the back yard. The good old roadster in the driveway. The last sweetheart kiss at the station. Those dances last summer. That half-finished letter in his blouse. All those plans for the future. Couldn't somebody find him please?

"Too much for you, all this? But it really happened last night, just like that. If people could only understand it, if they would just grind deep into their thinking that stark, terrible reality of it, every petty, selfish interest would be swept away. They would sacrifice anything and everything just to make themselves worthy of that boy.

"If people who have basked and prospered and walked secure in a land that has felt no more than the shock of a Fourth of July firecracker since 1865 would understand about this boy, they would rise up and demand that their Government take anything, exactly everything needed, and render uncertain every commonplace comfort and easy security, just to avenge that boy.

"He died last night, you see. There's no way to get around that."

When the present Court House was erected in 1884, or nearly 60 years ago, it was equipped with solid walnut furniture and file cases in keeping with the walnut doors and other furnishings.

Black walnut was plentiful in those days, and was not only one of the cheapest timbers available, but one of the best for interior work and furniture.

As the years have gone by the walnut cases have been vanishing one by one as modern steel filing cases have been installed to take their place.

While most of the old walnut cases have disappeared, there are still many articles of furniture, including solid walnut tables that were a part of the original furniture, that have not been replaced with more modern fixtures.

However, within a few years I expect to see the old tables, or most of them, vanish and steel fixtures take their place so that about the only reminder of the original equipment will be the walnut doors, window casings and baseboards.

40 JAP PLANES SHOT DOWN IN CONVOY ATTACK

American Fliers Pile Into Formation of 70 Nips To Spread Havoc

NOT ONE SHIP DAMAGED

Meanwhile, Allied Jungle Troops Press Attack on Another Enemy Base

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHEAST PACIFIC, Sept. 24.—(P)—Australian artillery pounded the Japanese today in the New Guinea coastal base of Finschhafen, arching shells over front-line patrols which have beaten down rapidly fading enemy resistance to reach the edge of an airfield two miles north of their objective.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur thus confronted the Japanese with the threatened loss of their third air base since September 12 in a jungle sector where the enemy already has expended more than 12,000 men.

Today MacArthur permitted release of the first details of the amphibious operation against Finschhafen, only 70 over-water miles southwest of New Britain, a key position of the Japanese.

Australians began landing on a beach six miles north of Finschhafen at dawn Wednesday, six days after the fall of Lae and 10 days after the capture of Salamaua.

American warships bombarded enemy positions beyond the beachhead. Bombers dropped 21 tons of explosives on Finschhafen. Attack planes fired 48,000 rounds of ammunition.

Not until mid-morning did any Japanese planes appear. Two were shot down from high altitude. At noon, as the ships were withdrawing, between 20 and 30 Japanese bombers arrived with an escort of upwards of 40 fighters.

American fighters piled into the enemy formations. Forty Japanese planes were downed for certain, five more were believed destroyed. Only three Allied planes were lost and the pilot of one was saved.

Not a ship was damaged by the enemy. Not a passenger was injured.

While Australian soldiers and American paratroopers hunted down 600 Japanese who fled into the jungles above captured Lae, headquarters reported today a preliminary count of more than 6,300 enemy soldiers slain since July 1 in the Lae-Salamaua sector. Six thousand more were estimated previously to have been killed there before July 1.

ARMY-NAVY E REFUSED BY HEAD OF WAR PLANT

CLEVELAND, Sept. 24.—(P)—President James F. Lincoln of The Lincoln Electric Co. reported he refused to accept an Army-Navy E pennant for war production in June, 1942, because the House Naval Affairs committee "had called me all kinds of a crook" during an investigation of the firm's bonus system.

DOG CITED FOR BRAVERY UNDER FIRE

BECAUSE ANIMALS CANNOT BE AWARDED THE Distinguished Service Cross, "Chips," a German shepherd, will have to be content with a War Department citation for heroism under fire. The dog, shown with a little playmate, landed in Sicily with our troops and cleaned out an enemy pillbox, bringing in two Italian prisoners. (International)

German Transports Shot Down Carrying Troops From Corsica

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 24.—(P)—Allied Beaufighters intercepted a Nazi air fleet trying to evacuate Germans from Corsica and shot down seven transport planes, it was announced today.

"Three separate attacks were made against the transports, some of which were Junkers 52's and some Savo Marchetti-82's," an air force announcement said. "The first destroyed all three of a formation. The second two out of six. The third brought two out of five down in flames.

"At other times during the day several score enemy transports were observed making an evacuation trip and on the sea a large number of small boats were seen by reconnaissance aircraft."

At least 14 Nazi transport planes, including big Junkers 52's, were involved in the attempted aerial rescue, which was smashed in a series of three attacks by RAF Beaufighters.

"At other times during the day," Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced, "several score enemy transports were observed making an evacuation trip and on the sea a large number of small boats were seen by reconnaissance aircraft."

SURRENDERING JAPS MUST COME IN NUDE SAYS RETURNED YANK

PITTSBURGH, Calif., Sept. 24.—(P)—A Japanese soldier who wants to surrender to United States troops in the Pacific must first take off all his clothing and advance in the nude, says Pvt. Albert S. Vedovelli, a veteran of Guadalcanal.

Vedovelli, under treatment for shrapnel wounds, explained why: "U. S. Soldiers have been fooled by treacherous Japs who feigned surrender and then blow themselves and their captors to bits with hidden hand grenades."

While Allied planes intercepted German attempts at an aerial evacuation of Corsica, General Charles De Gaulle, co-president of the French Committee of National Liberation, hailed the liberation of the island as France's contribution to the United Nations' effort in "one war for one victory."

De Gaulle said Corsica enthusiastically supported the national committee, and added in a broadcast that it was only for the committee to decide substitutions among Corsican officials and decide punishments for those replaced, once again asserting his view of the committee as the civilian authority over and above the military.

It was announced today, meanwhile, that two French cruisers—including one recently based at Martinique—six destroyers and three submarines helped land the French forces now driving the Germans from Corsica.

Four German Cities Hit By Big Bomber Attack

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(P)—In their second heavy blow in 24 hours against Nazi industrial and transportation centers, a fleet of big RAF bombers blasted four German cities last night, heavily bombing the twin towns of Mannheim-Ludwigshafen and hitting Darmstadt, 35 miles northeast of Mannheim and Aachen, near Cologne.

Thirty-two bombers failed to return.

The twin cities at the junction of the Rhine and Neckar rivers shuddered under the impact of 1,500 long tons (1,736 U.S. tons) in 45 minutes—17 tons a minute less than the record load dumped on Hamburg—in a sequel to the Wednesday night attack on Hannover.

It was the second big attack in less than three weeks on Mannheim-Ludwigshafen, Germany's second largest inland port, through which large quantities of coal and other vital supplies are trans-shipped to Italy. Aachen, hit 16 times before, is a key railroad and highway point through which moves much of Hitler's supplies and reinforcements for the west wall.

The three-pronged attack rounded out smashes by American Flying Fortresses and medium Allied bombers yesterday to make the 24-hour raid probably the heaviest day and night operations of the war.

FIRST LADY BACK FROM BATTLE AREA

Journey Took Her to Islands Of South Pacific

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(P)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, back from a five-week, 26,000-mile tour of the south Pacific war theater, eagerly greeted her son, Lieut. Col. James Roosevelt, as she alighted from a trans-continental plane today.

The First Lady fairly leaped two feet to the ground from an army plane in which she made her tour into the arms of her son.

She arrived in San Francisco from Honolulu shortly after noon yesterday.

The journey took her to 17 islands, in addition to Australia and New Zealand, and included Guadalcanal, which had been bombed the night before and had an alert the night she was there. She flew 23,145 air miles in 107 hours, 45 minutes.

Nazi Retreat In Russia Developing Into Debacle

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(P)—The Red army has reached the Dnieper in force, and other Soviet units northwest of Smolensk have reached the village of Tarasenk, only three miles from the border of White Russia, Soviet dispatches said today.

(The German high command said the Russians already were making heavy thrusts in efforts to cross the Dnieper, but declared they were repulsed.)

With the Red army only nine miles from Smolensk, after capturing Luzanovo, the Germans were in immediate danger of losing their central front citadel, which they have held since the early days of their smash toward Moscow.

"The Germans are systematic-

YUGOSLAV GUERRILLA FORCE FIGHTING NAZIS IN TRIESTE AND MOVE ON ANOTHER CITY

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(P)—Strong Yugoslav guerrilla forces were reported fighting German troops today in the streets of Trieste and threatening Fiume in an apparently coordinated drive against the two Italian ports at the northern end of the Adriatic.

The action was part of a series of new flareups by partisan armies against Nazi occupying forces at scattered points along some 400 miles of the eastern Adriatic shore, all conceivably inaugurated with Allied approval.

Yugoslav sources here said Slovene irregulars struck some 25 miles into Italy from the Yugoslav border and penetrated Trieste, with oppressed inhabitants of that former Italian naval base joining their ranks to attack the Nazi garrison.

These same sources reported other Slovene formations had occupied Udine, Italian mountain town four miles east of the Yugoslav border and 28 miles northeast of Trieste, while farther to the east in northwestern Yugoslavia heavy fighting was said to be in progress along a 50-mile front between Bistrica (Feistritz) and Ljubljana.

The partisans reported engaged around Trieste and Fiume apparently were operating under command of the Montenegrin guerrilla chieftain Joseip Broz, familiarly known as "Tito," but the forces of Gen. Draja Mihailovic were said to be fighting further south in the interior.

News of the fighting recalled recent Cairo dispatches indicating the Allied senior officers had gone to Yugoslavia to attempt to coordinate the activities of "Tito" and Mihailovic with Allied strategic plans.

BOY GRINS BROADLY AT DEATH PENALTY

Convicted of Murder of Employer's Son

CELINA, Sept. 24.—(P)—Seventeen-year-old Louis Vernon Hand, standing erect and grinning broadly, was condemned to death in the electric chair by Common Pleas Judge Raymond Younger today.

Convicted last week for the hammer slaying of Richard Stober, 6, last July 3, Hand was sentenced to be electrocuted in Ohio Penitentiary January 14.

Judge Younger, visibly shaken, asked the boy whether he had anything to say.

"I have not," the boy replied.

Those were his first words since he entered court early last week to stand trial on a first degree murder charge.

He smiled broadly as Judge Younger pronounced sentence, and then, grinning at the packed courtroom, was led back to jail, the first person ever sentenced to death in Mercer County. He will be taken to the penitentiary at Columbus Monday.

TOLEDO'S PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO REOPEN ON MONDAY

TOLEDO, Sept. 24.—(P)—Toledo's 64 public schools, closed since Sept. 13 by a strike of non-educational employees, will reopen Monday under an agreement approved by the strikers and ratified by the Board of Education.

Proposed by a citizen's committee, the settlement grants a $20 a month wage increase from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31, to maintenance personnel. The strikers first asked $30 a month "cost of living" increases.

Hungary May Quit War; People Have Had Enough

STANBUL, Turkey, Sept. 23.—(Delayed)—(P)—The Rumanian radio told listeners yesterday that the Hungarian government was about to resign and quote Swiss dispatches as declaring that the Hungarians were seeking a separate peace.

(A British broadcast, recorded by CBS in New York today, reported that "a cabinet crisis in Budapest, brought about by the people's wish to follow Italy out of the war, is taking place."

"A new ultimatum from Hitler is expected any moment," the British broadcast said, adding that Hungary's chief of staff, Generally evacuating heavy equipment, important installations and civilians from the Kuban bridge-head."

This German admission followed by some 36 hours Russian announcement of the capture of Anapa, last Black Sea port held by the Nazis on the Taman peninsula.

As a result of steady Russian advances in the Kiev sector, meanwhile, the situation of the German forces along the bend of the lower Dnieper appeared to be growing more critical by the hour.

Kiev itself was in imminent danger from Russian columns operating to both north and south. A Moscow communique indicated the Russians were developing a pincer movement aimed at Cherkasi, 90 miles to the southeast, and at the junction of the Pripiet and Dnieper rivers, 55 miles to the north.

Trubaitsky, 15 miles from Cherkasi, was in imminent danger from Russian columns operating to both north and south.

NEW PLAN OFFERED TO PUT CURB ON DRAFT OF FATHERS

Spotlight Focused on More Than 300,000 Non-fathers In Government Work

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(P)—Abandoning the fight to outlaw the father draft, a congressional bloc sought to cushion the impact on the nation's homes today by driving into uniform what one legislator called "a lost army" of thousands of government workers.

Chairman May (D., Ky.) of the House Military Affairs committee announced his committee would ask Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey to explain next week why an estimated 300,000 draft-age, non-fathers in the Federal employ have not been inducted.

One of May's sub-committees, headed by Rep. Costello (D., Calif.), said its investigation of government deferment policies indicated that approximately 300,000 federal workers apparently eligible for the draft have not been called.

In both the Senate and House, legislators apparently had abandoned their fight to outlaw father draft. An unofficial poll in the Senate showed less than 20 certain votes for the Wheeler bill to block the draft until Jan. 1, 1944. Sentiment for it faded in the face of testimony by military men that they needed more manpower, backed up by the word of presidential adviser, Bernard M. Baruch.

YANKS ASSAULT NAZI POSITIONS ON MOUNTAINS

Bitter Fighting Rages With Germans Defending Ruins Of Key Port City

ALLIED FORCES COMBINED

Reinforcements Still Pouring Into Salerno Area While Allies Control Skies

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 24.—(P)—The Fifth Army launched a full-scale offensive against German mountain positions guarding the route to Naples, it was announced today, while Allied motor torpedo boats stabbed into Valona harbor on the coast of Albania and sank two enemy vessels.

The onslaught by Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's American and British soldiers from their hard-won Salerno positions was accompanied by an intensification of the blockade of the waning German position on the island of Corsica.

The communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said the Fifth Army had captured Oliveto-Citro, 24 miles east of Salerno, while Matera, 36 miles northwest of Taranto, had been captured on the British front.

An official announcement said Altamura, 42 miles northwest of Taranto and 10 miles north of Matera, also had been captured.

The drive against Naples, Italy's second greatest port, was launched after a period of consolidation of the Allied springboard and while the Germans were reported engaged in large-scale demolitions, apparently with the idea of making harbor installations useless when the Allies occupy the city.

(The Allied-controlled Palermo radio, in a broadcast reported today to the Office of War Information, said Italians escaping from Naples reported residents of the city were battling Germans in the streets, firing at the enemy from the windows of their homes or using stones if without firearms.)

(Citizens who rebel are shot without any inquiry by the German officials, the broadcast said. "Numerous Italian officers and soldiers have also been shot on grounds of non-collaboration.")

Driving northward into strongly-defended saw-toothed positions, Clark's troops encountered heavy artillery and mortar opposition as well as minefields, and a spokesman said they were making slow progress.

"The fighting is bitter and severe," he said.

"The enemy obviously intends to hold onto Naples as long as possible."

The attack, which had been in full progress from the first light of day yesterday, also was supported strongly by artillery and mortars.

While Clark threw nearly his full strength into the ferocious attack, the Germans were forced to concentrate almost entirely in that area and the British Eighth Army in the south was able to advance swiftly and almost at will.

(The German communique broadcast from Berlin said strong forces had attacked at Salerno and Contursi to the southeast. It declared the Contursi attack was repelled but admitted that the attack still was in progress in the Salerno area.)

The daring motorboat foray to the Albanian shore marked an Allied move in a new direction against the German forces in southeastern and southern Europe.

A naval announcement said the larger of the two vessels sunk was laden with ammunition. Shore batteries opened fire, causing some damage to one vessel, but all returned to base without casualties, the announcement said.

FAYETTE COUNTY NOW $624,723 BEHIND QUOTA

Only Six Days Left To Sell Enough Bonds To Meet Goal

With only six days remaining in the Third War Loan Drive, Fayette County has still nearly two-thirds of the total—$624,723—to raise before the drive ends. That means that over $100,000 dollars must be sold daily, including next Sunday, to scrape through with the slenderest margin on attaining the quota.

Here is the tabulated "standing" of Fayette County for today: County goal $1,018,000 Amount raised 393,277

Yet to go $ 624,723

Only 964 Purchasers

Just 964 of the 21,000 people living in Fayette County have purchased bonds. Approximately 1,500 Fayette boys are in the service today—and citizens of the county, in the security and comfort of their own homes, have not produced enough War Bond purchasers to match the number of servicemen in the county.

This is the story of what happened to Pvt. Allen T. Heppert of Richmond, Va. It might happen to any one of the 1,500 servicemen from this county.

Fights In Sicily

Private Allen T. Heppert fought his way across Sicily in 15 days. He moved fast in those 15 days—faster than he ever will again. He is now paralyzed from the waist down.

Today he lies at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C. His right calf is gone, but that alone means nothing when there is no feeling below the waist anyway.

Private Heppert talks slowly and his voice catches in his throat at times. He wants to talk but breath comes hard. He is a man that only war would make into a soldier. Gentle and quiet, he was a printer in Richmond where he lived with his wife, before the army slung a gun across his shoulders and put him in infantry.

Germans Catch Up

But this 30-year-old printer was one of the troopers who helped clean the Germans out of the mountains. It took the enemy fifteen days to catch up with him, days literally without end.

"We got clean across the island, though, in fifteen days," he said proudly. "Once in a while they'd give us a lift but mostly we walked. Sometimes all night."

German Artillery Cracks Down

It was on the home stretch that German artillery cracked into him. "We were just outside of Palermo when it happened," he said. "It was noon."

He was in the mortar squad, feeding ammunition to an 81-mm. gun. Something sped toward him.

"I think it was an 88," he said. He did not remember how many times blood plasma was given him after the injury.

He apologized. "I don't know," he explained. "I kinda passed out."

Was In 45th Division

He was a member of the 45th division, the first troops to land. He was in Africa only five days before being shipped to the island. A landing barge dumped him off Sicily at 2 A. M. on the morning of the 10th when the opening guns heralded invasion's birth.

Two of his brothers are also in the army. One has been the south Pacific for a year. The other one is in north Africa.

"Funny," he said. "The brother

DONOHUE FUNERAL HELD THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Funeral services for Donald Donahoe were held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Kleeber Funeral Home. Rev. John K. Abernethy was in charge of the services.

He read a memoir, offered prayer, read the scriptures, delivered a sermon and read the hymn "Crossing the Bar."

The funeral was largely attended and there were many floral pieces.

WILSON SCHOOL CANNERS PUT UP 1100 QTS. FOOD

Work Until 3 A. M. Friday To Finish Canning for School Lunches

After working until 3 A. M. Friday morning, the Wilson School canning committee canned their 1100th quart of vegetables to complete their program for this year, it was learned today.

The committee began work at 8 A. M. Thursday morning canning green beans, tomatoes and vegetable soup mix and continued for 19 hours until all the food collected had been put into quart cans. The women stopped work only long enough to eat lunch and dinner, which were served pot-luck style.

Preparation of vegetables for canning in soup mixtures takes more time than canning other kinds of vegetables, Mrs. Hugh Perrill, chairman of the committee, explained when she reported the total amount of vegetables canned, which included carrots, corn, pickles and mangoes as well as beans, tomatoes and soup mixture.

Although the exact date for serving of hot lunches has not yet been set, "we're ready," Mrs. Perrill said. Last year nearly 100 students were served daily. About 125 are enrolled there this year and the committee expects to serve "about 90 percent" of the students, Mrs. Perrill said.

Women who helped with the canning were Mrs. Glenn Caplinger, Mrs. Hugh Perrill, Mrs. Willard Bonham, Mrs. Robert Bache-lor, Mrs. Howard Leaverton, Mrs. Lawrence Black, Mrs. Russell Taylor, Mrs. Ernest Binegar, Mrs. Harry Cunningham, Mrs. Alvin Armbrust, Mrs. Earl Scott, Mrs. Marion Cockerill, Mrs. Ray West, Mrs. Omar Sturgeon, Mrs. Wayne Jinks, Mrs. Walter Parrett, Mrs. O. T. Mossbarger, Mrs. George Anderson, Mrs. Virgil Fishback and Miss Pearl Clark.

ALLIED ATTACK ON NAPLES IN HIGH GEAR AS YANKS STORM MOUNTAIN POSTS

Allied vessels still are pouring reinforcements into the Salerno area and added that the Eighth Army is being supplied across the Straits of Messina.

Allied bombers last night ranged into northern Italy to Pisa and attacked the railway yards and airfield, the air command announced.

Allied aircraft still was striking heavily at enemy troop movements and concentrations back of the Salerno battle area. Medium bombers hit at roads and road junctions around Cancelli and in the area of Capua.

Fighters and fighter bombers patrolled the Avellino and Veneto areas, smashing at motor transports, gun positions and bridges.

The opening of the Adriatic to Allied naval forces was vividly pointed up by the foray into Valona harbor across the straits from the Italian heel. This was the first time Allied naval forces had struck in that direction since the fighting in Albania and Yugoslavia in 1941 when Admiral Sir Andrew Brounne Cunningham's cruisers and destroyers made daring dashes into the straits. The bold raid coincided with the campaign of Allied forces in the Middle East who have seized Samos and two islands in the Dodecanese.

The communique said two other enemy vessels were hit beside the two sunk.

The air force said the German evacuation of Corsica, island birthplace of Napoleon which is slightly over 100 miles south of the French coast, was going on day and night.

This was the third time since May that the Germans were on the run by air and sea. The first time was from Tunisia and the second from Sicily. In all cases their air transport losses were heavy.

It was disclosed, meanwhile, that two French cruisers, including the Jeanne D'Arc which formerly was based at Martinique in the West Indies, six destroyers and three submarines had assisted in taking French forces to the island to chase out the Germans.

More than 5,300 Germans were killed in the day's fighting, the Moscow war bulletin stated, and 863 more liberated towns and villages were added to the Russian bag.

THE WAR TODAY

German Retreat in Russia Deteriorating Into Rout and May Be War's Turning Point

The great withdrawal of Hitlerian forces on the Russian front has taken on so much of the nature of a rout as to rank with Dunkerque as one of the pivotal crises of the whole war.

What started out as a planned withdrawal has deteriorated so rapidly under the pile-driver blows of the Red forces that the German high command is now faced with the problem of whether the Nazi armies can reach their prepared defenses west of the Dnieper River and avert a major disaster. If they do achieve that hat-trick, they still must look back on one of the most costly retreats of history, both in men and materiel.

As this is written the unbelievable Red armies are almost at the line of the Dnieper at several points. They're just about where they were two years ago when Hitler was smashing them back with arrogant assurance.

The whole unwieldy German right wing, stretching 750 miles from Smolensk in the north to the Crimea in the south, is shivering and cracking under the fierce Red assaults. The Russians are close to Kiev and Smolensk, strategic strong-points in the Nazi front.

Moscow is watching the battle for these two cities confidently, expectantly. Smolensk is one of the important crossings of the upper Dnieper. This ancient city of Boris Godunov, long a prize of wars, is the gateway to Moscow. But it's a gateway that swings both ways, as Bonaparte discovered when his shattered troops fled back through there in the snows of 1812. Kiev, capital of the golden Ukraine for which Hitler sold his soul to the devil, is also a Dnieper crossing which is a life-line for the hard pressed invaders.

This much must be said for the German retreat: Only generalship of the highest order could have preserved even the semblance of a line in face of the terrific Russian striking power. Morale of the Nazi troops also must have been steady to permit of such an operation.

The question now is whether the Germans can steady themselves on the Dnieper line and hold. It would be rash to jump to the conclusion that they can't do this, especially with the fall rains coming to slow the Russians down. However, we're justified in noting that they are in a precarious position.

Whether the Nazis hold on the Dnieper, we are witnessing the breaking up of Hitler's power. He is definitely on the defensive, and will so continue, with lessening resistance, until the end. This doesn't mean that we might not see him undertake further offensives, but anything of that nature will be an act of desperation and still defeat.

All the signs are that the Fuehrer's role now is to battle for time—time which he hopes may enable him to maneuver himself into a favorable position for a negotiated peace. It's a safe bet right now that he would jump at any Allied terms which would give him a lease of life and allow him to return to his old boundaries. Why, because the German war lords, who represent some of the best military brains in the world, know they are beaten.

That doesn't mean, though, that they aren't going to fight on. They are bound to continue resistance until invasion of the Reich is imminent. Then one would expect them to rush for the best peace terms possible in an effort to avert fighting on home soil.

So far as the Prussian militarists are concerned they wouldn't hesitate to sacrifice Hitler if it would save their own skins. Their trouble is that the Allies have decreed their elimination along with Hitler and his ism. Therefore they too must battle and try to find an avenue of escape.

Can the German people take it? They will stand plenty until they realize there's no hope. Then the cord may snap.

We can't judge the present position by the collapse of civilian morale in the last war. That was impelled in large degree by stark hunger—and few things are more destructive of morale, especially when children are suffering. Thus far the German public appears to have sufficient food, much of it stolen from starving conquered peoples, of course, but still nourishment.

Could You spare $11,000 cash TO PROTECT YOUR RIGHT TO DRIVE

A new OHIO law, which becomes effective on September 20, requires the Registrar of Motor Vehicles to revoke the driving license of any motorist who fails to pay, within 30 days, any damage claim judgment arising out of an automobile accident. Unless you have automobile liability insurance to pay such claims, you may be faced with the necessity of digging up the cash to pay judgments up to a total of $11,000. And if you can't pay, you have to quit driving for five years.

The wise motorist isn't taking that chance. He is buying automobile liability insurance at the new low rates available thru this agency. We have a little folder for you that explains requirements under this new law. Ask for it—and for quotation on insurance which will protect both your pocketbook and your right to drive.

SPECIAL PROGRAM AT McNAIR SUNDAY

Christian Endeavor Will Open Winter Season

The fall and winter season of Christian Endeavor for the Mc-Nair Presbyterian Church will open Sunday with a special program in recognition of the boys from the congregation who are serving in the armed forces. This is announced by Mrs. Harry Fichthorn, president of the Endeavor.

The Christian Endeavor motto "For Christ and the Church" will be the theme of the program, and Rev. John Glenn, pastor of the church, will give the principal discussion of the topic. David Whiteside, who is personally familiar with most of the boys from the congregation now serving our country, will give special recognition to these boys.

The Junior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Fichthorn, and Mrs. Charles Keaton, will have an important part in the program singing many of the fighting songs of the Armed Forces. Mrs. Pershing Mann will be soloist, and will sing "The Lord's Prayer," arrangement by Albert Hay Malotte.

Mrs. Edward Kerns, pianist for the choir, will be the accompanist for all numbers, and will present a short prelude to the evening's program.

Elizabeth Ann Boyer will read her recently published poem "The Sister of a Marine," and Margaret Cornell will read another of Miss Boyer's poems, "The True American Spirit." Mrs. Harold Aleshire, who has written many lovely poems, will give one of her most favored poems, "My Own America." Miss Boyer, and Mrs. Aleshire are both members of the congregation at McNair.

The congregation will also have a part in the program when they are asked to join the choir in singing the beautiful "God Bless America" for the closing number on the evening's program.

While the program is to be presented in honor of the boys from McNair only, the public is cordially invited. The program is to be at 7 P. M.

WILL THE PEOPLE LEARN?

In an article in the Reader's Digest for September, 1943, Hatton W. Summers congressman from Texas, asks: "Why is it . . . that . . . representative government is withering before our eyes?"

He shows that while our whole political system is based on the principle of local self government, the people themselves are destroying that system by their continual demands for Federal intervention in the problems of every community and class and by ever-growing practices of passing these problems to Washington. Congress and the administration, not being able to handle such an impossible burden, creates bureaus and bureaucrats.

The bureaucrats "issue what are called 'directives,' which actually have the force of law. One bureaucrat in the Securities & Exchange Commission said recently: 'We do make the law. This order supersedes any laws opposed to it.'"

"By making the units of state government financially dependent on the Federal government, that government is acquiring the power to control the units of state government. When this is fully consummated, the sovereignty of state governments will be liquidated."

"The men who are trying to drive us toward government by bureaucracy understand this. The chief adviser of the National Resources Planning Board, recently abolished by Congress, prophesied crisply:

"Congress will surrender to the Administration the power to tax. . . Congress will appropriate huge sums of money, will surrender its power of directing when and how the money will be spent. Other extraordinary powers, such as to effect great social reforms, will be delegated to the Administration, which will retain most, if not all, of its wartime powers."

"The remedy—and only remedy—is to send all these non-Federal functions back where they belong: to the state and local communities, where they can be handled upon a scale within the comprehension of the limited mind of man."

"National socialism may be described as government by bureaucracy. If we think Hitler's system is better than ours, we should have the honesty to say so instead of copying while we denounce it."

THE CRUCIAL DAY

It can be no secret to anybody, and least of all to the Nazi general staff, that the day is approaching fast when the armies of democracy will begin landing all over the fortress of Europe.

The invasion of Italy is, in a sense, preliminary. There is a real question whether the best way to Berlin involves Italy. Even with the considerable headway we have made on the peninsula, there are several other routes which seem to offer superior advantages.

One is through the Balkans, another up the Rhone Valley and for both of these our possession of Italy is useful. There are the Scandinavian route and the Channel route. In neither of these is Allied occupation of Italy a necessary condition.

Washington at a Glance

WASHINGTON — To anyone who has followed the political history of the United States, the way in which both parties are lining up for a vigorous post-war world policy to preserve the peace must be the most heartening phenomenon to come out of this war.

When Secretary of State Hull took the air recently to declare for a post-war alliance of all nations, "with a readiness to use force, if necessary, for the maintenance of peace," it became apparent that this nation's political leaders are fully as united for winning the peace as they are for winning the war.

Nobody here doubts that Mr. Hull was speaking for the administration. No such important address would have been made without sending it over for the President to scan and initial "Okay, F. D. R."

It is interesting chiefly because it came on the heels of Mackinac conference of the Republican "council of 49," where G. O. P. leaders also put themselves on record for this nation's participation in a world alliance to maintain peace.

cupation of Mussolini's former duchy without value. It serves as a diversion and it offers to provide air fields from which support to more northerly invasions can fly.

But the crushing blow, in all probability, will not come from Italy. There are many who believe that, whatever may intervene, the end will not come until there has been a cross-channel invasion.

British invasion maneuvers half way across the channel, the other day, went off so successfully as to suggest that even that most difficult of approaches to Berlin can be used in the near future.

Allied strategy is, on the whole, conservative. Our general plan has been to move slowly, to test the ground firmly before each step forward, to make sure of success—as sure as the hazards of war permit—before each venture.

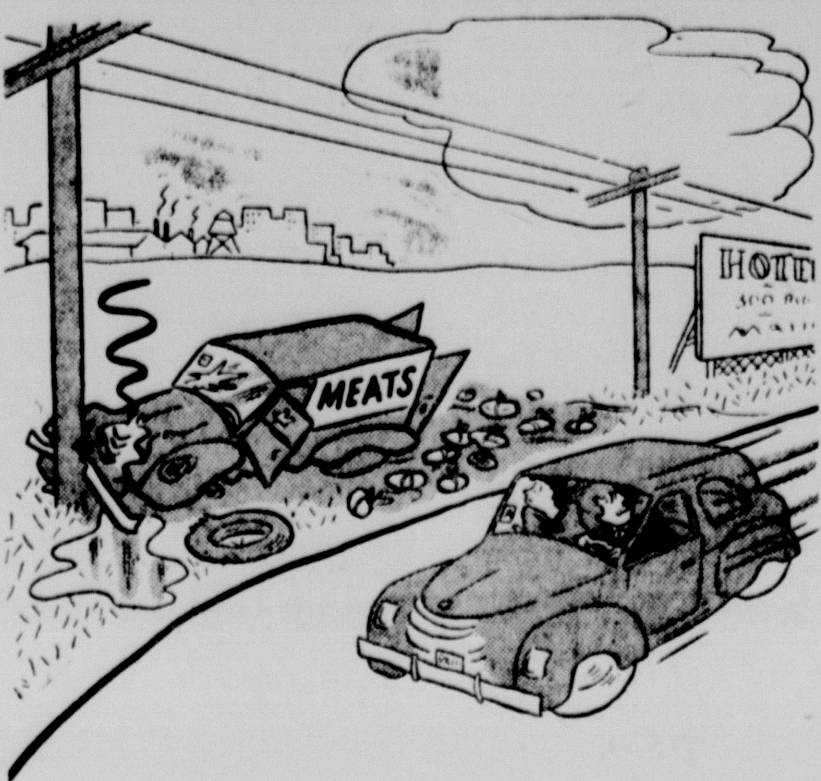

Our progress seems slow at times. But the method guards against disaster. And when the big blow falls it will be all the more crushing.

It is useful to realize fully that big events are coming close, for a number of reasons. There will be huge casualty lists for which we must be prepared. There is going to be a terrific drain upon our resources. Gasoline will be needed in greater quantities than ever before. So will food, coal, clothing and incidentals for relief of the millions we are beginning to set free.

The end is approaching. It is reasonable to expect it, in Europe during 1944. But we can not yet relax and draw a deep breath. Until the end comes, every victory will call upon us for increased exertion at home as well as on the fighting fronts.

Skin Aids in Diagnosis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THE OLD doctor of our youth used to look at the tongue. This was supposed to give him a sort of general idea of the state of health.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

as to how serious the condition was. As a matter of fact, it didn't teach him much because he didn't know what to look for.

He concentrated on a coated tongue and a coated tongue doesn't mean anything. If he had known the meaning and significance of raw tongue and red tongues, he would have had a clue to a number of the anemias and the vitamin deficiencies. "Raw, red tongue, raw, red gut" is a modern clinical phrase.

The modern physician is much more likely to get his impressions of the patient's general status from looking at and feeling the skin. When an experienced clinician, going through his wards, dictates to his interne about a patient that he "looks sick," you can put that down as one of the most important items in his examination.

Diagnosis From Skin

The sagging of the muscles of the face that denotes Nature's exhaustion, the pallor of heart muscle disease, or the bluish dusky of heart failure or shock, the yellow tint of anemia, the thin skin of abnormal weight loss—any of these the trained eye sees and assesses almost subconsciously.

A whole new science has grown up around the skin changes of vitamin deficiency. In general these changes consist of changes in the color of the skin, an increase in scurfiness of the skin and in poor function of the grease glands of the skin.

One of them at least comes from too much vitamins. We hear so much of people having too little vitamins that we never give a thought to the possibility of getting too much. We are warned pretty regularly not to eat too much protein, cut down on your meat, or cut down on your fat, so why isn't it possible that if we stuff ourselves with vitamins we may get more than the body can take care of.

Cause of Carotenemia

This seems to be the case with the appearance of a yellowish discoloration of the skin known as carotenemia, which comes from eating too much of pigmented vegetables containing carotene, the precursor of vitamin A. In Germany after World War I it was found frequently because of the predominant vegetable diet used by the German people in those years.

Vitamin deficiency, especially vitamin A deficiency, results often in a simple dryness of the skin. This may go over into scurfiness and finally the scaly skin known as ichthyosis. It has been found that many of these cases respond to vitamins A and B.

Still another set of skin conditions apparently due to vitamin deficiency are characterized by a roughness of the skin due to plugs that form in the mouths of the sebaceous glands which normally supply the skin with grease. Lack of vitamin B (yeast, wheat germ) accounts for most of these.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

D. L.:—Who invented gelatin, and what nutritional value has it?

Answer: Papin, a French agriculturalist, in 1681, in order to use as much of the animal as possible, removed jelly from the bones. Cow's Gelatin was introduced into this country in 1845 and sold first through druggists, later being taken up by grocers. Carl Voit, the great physiologist, in 1870, made the first scientific experiments in gelatin showing it spared protein in the diet more than fat or starch.

A. M.:—Please tell me what coronary occlusion is?

Answer: The arteries of the heart are called the coronary arteries. When one of them is stopped by a clot it is called coronary occlusion.

SYNOPSIS

ADAM NORTH, young bachelor who recently converted an old Louisville buggy factory into a war plant, becomes a "fill-in" stand-by for the town's party givers, among them being

SUSAN POTTER, whose husband, Bill, has lately been breaking evening dates to "negotiate" a real estate deal with ALICIA CARTER, a wily, flirtatious widow, Adam, unknowingly, is loved by his secretary.

RUTH MOOREHOUSE, who at present is having difficulty dissuading the affections of

JACK VINTON, a mechanic in the plant, Adam, not being aware of Ruth's feelings, is just becoming intrigued with BRENDA LEIGH, who is now enjoying an extended vacation in Louisville, which she left several years ago to launch a journalistic career in New York City.

YESTERDAY: Susan tells Bill that she is starting her job as dietitian in Adam's factory cafeteria tomorrow morning.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

ALTHOUGH Susan still was annoyed with Bill when evening came, she went ahead and prepared a good meal. Or she hoped he would think it was good; not so much because she wished to please his palate especially, but because the meal consisted of things she planned to serve at the cafeteria. There was an inexpensive meat loaf, a health salad of raw vegetables, a baked dish of tomatoes and potatoes with a sprinkling of grated cheese, and a chocolate-flavored pudding with a cornstarch base. Maybe the starch element predominated, but she wasn't going to let that bother her—not at the moment. She wasn't trying for a balanced meal just then, but was trying out certain dishes she would use later on.

The meal was ready to be served when Bill came down from the bathroom, washed and unusually cheerful.

"My, that meat loaf smells appetizing!" he exclaimed, as he took his place at the table.

"I hope it tastes as good as it smells."

"It does!" said Bill, a little later. "Better! Darned good salad, too. And there's nothing better than a cheese flavor to a dish."

"In other words, you approve of the meal as a whole. Is that it?"

"Exactly!" Bill gave her a broad smile. "Some cook, my little Susan."

"Thanks," Susan said. "I'm especially glad everything tastes good. As a matter of fact, Bill, I'm trying all the things out on you."

"What do you mean?"

"I wanted to get your reactions as a man, since I'll soon be serving a meat loaf like this at the factory cafeteria."

Bill stopped eating and gave Susan a steady look. "In other words, I'm just a guinea pig."

"Oh, I wouldn't say that, exactly," Susan laughed. "But all the things you're eating are easy to make and cost little. I wanted to be sure you liked the way they tasted, though. She took another bite of the salad. 'I rather like them myself—which ought to be the supreme test.'"

"Look here, Susan, I don't like the idea of your working in that factory?"

"Why not?"

"Your place is the home."

"Now you're talking like a middle-aged Victorian. Bill, that old talk about the home being the woman's place went out when the women got the vote."

"I know it," said Bill, "and it's a darned shame, too. Women talked about what a wonderful world it would be when they got the vote—peace, plenty, cleanliness, decency—and now look."

"Look at what?" said Susan.

"The condition of the world," said Bill. He leaned forward, pointed his fork at Susan and added, "Had you stopped to think that we are having the worst war in the history of the whole world—since women got the vote?"

"Goodness, Bill, you're not going to blame us for the war, are you?"

"Certainly not," said Bill. "But where's all the utopian perfection we were to have if women had a hand in things? They blamed conditions on the men—saying politics was dirty and women would clean it up. And now look."

"What—again?"

"There have been more wars and more political scandals since women took a hand than we ever had before," Bill went on, "and statistics show that every prison in the country has more occupants, and so—"

"My goodness, what brought all this on?"

Bill scowled. "You did."

"I?"

"Yes—with your talk of working in a factory, when the—"

"—when the home is my place," Susan added when Bill hesitated a second. "Well, just the same, I'm going to go down and help Adam North out. Maybe women are responsible for the war, as you try to make me believe. If they are, it's their duty to do something now, that there is a war."

"You mean you're motivated by patriotism?" said Bill.

"Partly."

"What else is back of this sudden decision to get out into the business world?"

"You."

"Yes, and stop stealing my lines," said Susan. "You are away so much, Bill, and I get sick of sitting around home."

"I thought you were such a nut about your home."

"I am. I always will be . . . but I have decided not to let it dominate me—make a slave of me."

"Oh, so now you're a slave!"

"More or less, yes. You said yourself I gave too much time to chasing dust, and—things like that."

"Sure I did—but I didn't mean for you to desert the home entirely and go out cooking for a lot of factory workers."

"I'm doing it for Uncle Sam."

"Now you sound like a war poster."

"I don't care what I sound like," said Susan sharply. "Eat your meal so I can get your dessert."

"Do I play the guinea pig with that also?" said Bill.

"No. It's chocolate cornstarch pudding—something you like."

"Inexpensive, too, I take it."

"Yes."

Bill jabbed his fork into the health salad. "Of course you know that making salads and meat loafs for two people is something quite different from making 'em for several hundred workers," he said.

"Of course I do," said Susan. "I'm not bothered about that. I have already worked out the costs—the amounts, and all that. I have them ready for Adam to look over tomorrow morning."

She's the Mistress of Hounds. U. S. A.

By ADELAIDE KERR

Mrs. Milton Erlanger's love for dogs has brought her a man-sized war job different from any other woman's.

She is consultant on the dog program to the Quartermaster General of the United States Army. Which means that she is helping train the dogs that are saving American soldiers' lives in tropic jungles and Arctic snows. It also means that she has the unusual job—for a woman—of being military advisor to the Signal Corps.

Mrs. Erlanger, who is small, blonde and as feminine as lace, seems to have been heading toward that job for the better part of her life. As a child she loved, owned and trained dogs. As the wife of a New York manufacturer, she ran a kennel of 200 dogs and collected a flock of silver cups. As an active figure in the dog world, she became impressed with the military service which dogs can render in wartime. So when war broke out, she helped found Dogs for Defense—an organization which has since supplied thousands of dogs for the Army's dog training program. In the course of that work she came in contact with Major General Edmund B. Gregory, Quartermaster General, and eventually became his consultant on the dog program.

Since then Mrs. Erlanger has worked with leading dog trainers of this country and allied nations to establish a blueprint for teachers to follow in training dogs. The dogs they have trained in five different centers in the country are now working in every combat area where American soldiers fight.

"We are training five different classes of dogs," Mrs. Erlanger said in the torrential spill of words with which she discusses her favorite subject.

"To begin with, of course, there are sentry dogs which accompany a sentry at night. They can scent an intruder whom the sentry can neither see nor hear. And they also guard ammunition dumps and food storage plants.

"Then there are attack dogs, trained to go out after escaping prisoners. The main thing in their training is to teach them to stop biting once they begin. We are also training combat dogs. They are particularly useful in jungle warfare. Camouflage won't fool them. They go ahead of scouting patrols and give warnings of ambushes or attempts at infiltration.

"Messenger dogs are another important part of the program. All through the jungle scouting patrols need to send messages back to the command post, and dogs can carry them better than men. Men get lost and make noise. Dogs can slip through all kinds of terrain and can find their way from one outpost to another. They are trained to run between two men—one with the scouting patrol, one at the front lines. Pigeons were used to carry messages in the last war, but they will only fly one way—toward home. The dogs will run both ways. "The fifth class we are training is casualty dogs. They work at the front too. They find the wounded, dash back to their master and report them and then lead him to the spot. In all this work we have had to train men too, for the dogs will work only with the men who are their masters."

Mrs. R. R. Meriweather To Instruct Thursday Classes
During Winter

Mrs. R. R. Meriweather will relieve Mrs. Harold Craig on Thursday afternoon at the Red Cross surgical dressing unit in Memorial Hall, it was learned today. She began her duties Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Martha Braun will remain on duty as instructor. Thursday's session, the second in the winter's program, was attended by eight women — and again most of them were regular workers who had been mainstays of the unit last winter, Mrs. Braun said.

Nearly 800 dressings were made Thursday afternoon, which, with the 14,000 made Wednesday afternoon, keeps the daily quota of 1,000 up to par. Mrs. Braun stated that although output would probably not be steadily 1,000 per day, that the extra dressings folded on days when larger numbers of workers attended the classes would make up for the deficiency on other days.

After the first week's classes are finished, more definite schedules as to working times will be set up, it is indicated. Several women will probably work three or four afternoons a week, it is expected. Each afternoon session lasts from 1 to 4 P. M. and the evening class which is to be held on Monday nights will be from 7 to 10 P. M. There are 30,000 dressings on hand to be made now.

Shattering Blows and Overwhelming Assault Are Army and Navy Aim, Commander-in-Chief of U. S. Fleet Tells Veterans of Last War at Omaha Convention

OMAHA, Sept. 24—(P)—Warren H. Atherton, Stockton, Calif., lawyer, elected national commander of the American Legion today, came up the hard way.

He entered the army in the first World War as a private and came out a captain.

The 51-year-old commander, a native of San Francisco, served in many offices of the local Legion post at Stockton before becoming department commander in California, national executive committee member and finally national commander.

Prime objective of the American Legion now, he says, "is to use its cross-section of American people to make the adjustments necessary to bring the maximum efficiency out of manpower."

He believes a universal act—long sought by the Legion, is the best method of achieving that goal.

"The government should have the authority to require people to do the most necessary thing to win the war," he says.

Next in importance from a Legion standpoint in Atherton's opinion, is the setting up of machinery to "properly hand the rehabilitation of returning veterans."

He believes in compulsory military training for both young men and women in peace time, adding that it is his opinion that

"we have been precipitated into two world wars because the enemy has underestimated the strength of the United States."

Mrs. Lawrence F. Smith, Racine, Wis., the wife of the representative of the first Wisconsin district in Congress, was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The Legion was committed to the support of a post-war program endorsing participation by the United States in a post-war association of "free and sovereign nations" to preserve peace.

The Legion in accepting committee reports at the close of its 25th annual convention yesterday gave its approval to post-war cooperation as a method by which "our nation can best serve and protect its natural interests."

including taking of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers into the armed services, was seen in adoption of a report submitted by the Legion's national defense committee.

Martin V. Coffey of Middletown, O., Ohio department commander, was elected a national vice commander.

Shattering blows against the enemy "with all weapons that can be brought to bear, synchronized and coordinated with overwhelming assault," constitute the aim of the navy, Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the U. S. fleet, asserted today.

He told the national convention of the American Legion that attacks recently carried out with great damage upon Japanese positions on the Marcus and Gilbert islands in the South Pacific are only "the shape of things to come."

King emphasized throughout his prepared address the importance of the navy's swiftly growing air arm now striking hard at enemy bases, particularly in the Pacific.

"The navy's strategy and tactics," he said, "have always revolved around those weapon-bearers which can hit the farthest and the hardest. In this present war these bearers are aircraft. This is thoroughly understood by all naval officers. Air-mindedness in the navy is by no means the exclusive property of the navy aviator."

But he laid great stress on the importance of close coordination of all branches in any engagement, asserting:

"Unity and team work is the basis of the navy's fighting doctrine. It is the navy's aim to strike the enemy at any given point with all the weapons that can be brought to bear, synchronized and coordinated in overwhelming assault."

The highlight of the closing session of the 25th annual Legion convention was the presentation of the Legion's Distinguished Service Medal to Admiral King.

The Legion has not yet received invitations from cities wanting the 1944 convention and the final choice will rest with the executive committee, with its decision to be made after invitations are received.

The convention approved a resolution yesterday charging that Rep. Fish (R-N.Y.) and "certain other isolationist members of Congress" mis-used their congressional frank in sending out propaganda "inimical to the United States." The resolution asked congressional action to halt misuse of the frank "by members of Congress."

The convention adopted a resolution to press for enactment of a national service law "to assure that manpower for war production and essential civilian activities will be available when and as needed to win the war."

Another resolution asked that steps be taken by the federal government to assure that overseas soldiers, probably the last to be demobilized, shall not suffer unemployment on that account.

The resolution was one of many offered by the employment committee of the Legion and adopted by the convention.

In general, they outline a broad policy for returning soldiers, including vocational rehabilitation, continuing of education if desired and safeguarding of jobs.

STONE'S GRILL

WHERE EVERYBODY MEETS

This one's going to hurt !

INVASION COMES HIGH—in blood and money.

Part of the cost must be paid with human life. That means deep and lasting hurt for many and many an American family.

Part of the cost must be paid in cash . . . this September. And that's going to hurt, too!

The 3rd War Loan Is Here!

To pay for invasion—to get the money to keep our fighting machine going—you, and every man or woman in America, are asked to invest in at least one extra $100 Bond in September.

$100 EXTRA, mind you—for everybody!

No man or woman can hold back. No man or woman can point to his Payroll buying and say, "They don't mean me!" No man or woman can say, "I'm already lending 10% or 12% or 20%—I'm doing enough!"

Sure—it's going to hurt. It's going to take more than spare cash this time—more than just money that might have gone for fun. It's going to take money we have tucked away. It's going to take part of the money we've been living on—money that might have meant extra shoes or clothes or food! Money that might have gone for anything that we can get along without!

Sure—it'll be tough to dig up that extra money. But we've got to do it—and we will.

We'll do it partly because of the look that would come over the faces of our fighting men if we should fail. We'll do it partly because the cheapest, easiest way out of this whole rotten business is for everybody to chip in all he can and help end it quick. We'll do it partly because there's no finer, safer investment in the world today than a U. S. War Bond.

But mostly, we'll do it because America is right smack in the middle of the biggest, deadliest, dirtiest war in history.

And we're Americans.

CONSERVE ELECTRICITY

to conserve COAL—manpower—transportation

How you can SAVE ELECTRICITY

Turn off lights when not in use, and when leaving home or office.

Don't turn on the toaster or the iron before you are ready to use it. Turn it off when not in use.

Turn off the radio when no one is listening.

It takes a pound of coal to manufacture a kilowatt hour of electricity. A hundred-watt lamp lighted ten hours consumes a kilowatt hour. Conversely, a hundred-watt lamp turned OFF for ten hours SAVES a kilowatt hour and saves the pound of coal. If every one of our more than 120,000 customers will save just that much, 60 tons of coal will be conserved for war purposes. Use plenty of light with which to read and sew and work, but eliminate all unneeded lighting.

Waste in War Is a Crime. Do Not Waste
Electricity Just Because It Is Not Rationed.

FARM PRODUCTS IN WARTIME USE TO BE REVEALED

Research Chemist To Speak
To Rotarians Here at Next Tuesday Meeting

How chemical and agricultural research is being speeded up to help develop new chemical products and replacements for unavailable materials required in America's all-out war effort will be told by V. S. Peterson, agricultural consultant of the DuPont Company's agricultural division, at the Rotary Club next Tuesday noon at the Country Club.

V. S. PETERSON

Plans have been made also for Peterson to speak to the students of the high school here in the auditorium the same day at 9 A. M. The agricultural department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has made this program possible in this city as a part of a general plan adopted by the company in developing programs on this subject to help acquaint industry and agriculture with the many uses for agricultural raw materials in wartime production and the possibilities along this line in post-war development.

According to advance information, Peterson who makes this trip to Washington C. H. is expected to emphasize the fact that young people as well as older folks, must realize that the war is being fought not only in the fields of battle, but in the home, in the factory and on the farm as well.

To illustrate the fact that large quantities of farm products eventually become weapons in the war for freedom as well as the implements of everyday living and farming, Mr. Peterson will display a wide selection of chemical products now being made, particularly those utilizing the raw materials produced on the farm. He will also show numerous chemicals and chemical compounds useful in the war-time production of food, feed, fats and fiber.

Mr. Peterson has served on the faculties of the Iowa and Pennsylvania State Agricultural Colleges as an Agricultural Engineer and has held important posts in the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

OUTLINE OF USA HIGHLIGHTS WHS BAND DISPLAY

Band Also To Spell 'Buy A Bond' at Half's Show Tonight

Washington C. H. High School band will highlight its performance at the half of the Chillicothe Cavaliers-Blue Lions game Friday night with the formation of an outline map of the United States while it plays "America the Beautiful", Paul Fitzwater, band director, said.

Other features of the between-halves display will be a revolving "C" executed before the visiting Chillicothe fans while the band plays the Chillicothe High School's song, and spelling out "Buy a Bond." During that formation, the band will play two marches, "Torch of Liberty" and "Flying Cadets".

The traditional "W" and playing of the Alma Mater will be featured, as always, at the end of the band's performance.

Before the game, lights on the field will be turned out while the American flag is raised under a spotlight at the east end of the field. David Mitchell will play the regulation bugle call, "To the Colors" as the flag is raised. When the flag is at the summit of the flagpole, the band will play the national anthem.

The band's performance before the game will be a repetition of the all-service formation used at the opener last Friday night. Breaking at once into formations of three airplanes, the band plays the Army Air Corps song, sliding into the Infantry song, the Marine Hymn and "Anchors Aweigh" as the formations change to a giant USA and then to three anchors.

"Liberty Fleet," a patriotic march, will be played before the band comes onto the field before the game begins.

County Courts

CONTEMPT CHARGES

Mrs. Beryl Baker, formerly Beryl Ellison, was to appear in Juvenile Court Friday for a hearing on contempt charges filed by Mrs. May Ellison, who charges the defendant with contempt of a court order issued on July 24, 1936, under the terms of which custody of Dixie Lee Ellison was given to Mrs. May Ellison, grandmother.

The petition states that possession of the child was awarded the grandmother with visiting privileges and that the mother, Mrs. Baker, could have possession of the child one week every 6 months but could not remove the child from Fayette County without consent of the grandmother.

The charges further state that since September 3 Mrs. Baker has had possession of the child in Lancaster without permission of Mrs. May Ellison, who asked that Mrs. Baker be required to appear in court and bring the child, and to show cause for disobeying the court order.

coupons also are valid now, it was explained.

"In order to help dealers solve their man-power and truck shortage problems, delivery of as much fuel as possible must be made during the next few weeks," W. L. O'Brien, chairman of the board, declared. With deliveries spread out over a longer period of time, every person who heats with oil will be reasonably certain the time the first cold weather tain of having some fuel oil by strikes, he added.

The board, he said, has made every effort to renew fuel oil rations and have completed the task of mailing out all of the new coupons far enough in advance of cold weather to assure householders an opportunity to get deliveries.

"Now it is up to the users to do their part and place their orders," the chairman said.

All dealers may not be able to make deliveries of fuel oil immediately, he said, but the co-operation of residents of Fayette County will make possible the most efficient use of equipment and will result in the best possible service.
